SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

"Now we are Seniors." These words keep passing through our minds. But yet it doesn't seem possible, although true. It seems only yesterday we were green Freshmen, backward but eager to learn the ways of M. T. H. S. In addition to our regular line of subjects during our Freshman year, many of us filled the remainder of our schedule with such activities as basketball, football, dramatics and music. Initiation was a gala event, we Freshmen being slaves on a galley ship.

Up the next step of the ladder, to our Sophomore year. The big event of that year was Fresh-Soph. play, "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." The annual magazine campaign netted money to our treasure even though we did not win the contest.

The year 1949-1950; we have climbed another step on the ladder of education. Now we stand for the Almighty Juniors. We anxiously awaited the arrival of our long-awaited class rings. The poor fellows didn't wear theirs long but were seen on the fingers of the girls. One thing we can say for ourselves is that we worked hard our Junior year sponsoring skating parties, card parties, and the great success, the Junior play, "Great Caesar's Ghost". We'll never forget that, will we kids? The money derived from these activities helped pay for the cost of the Reception given for the Seniors in the spring. That proved a barrel of fun also. We felt privileged that year being able to attend the Prom.

Now as we recall the final year in completing our high school education and having climbed the ladder, we wish we were still in school having fun like presenting the Senior Play "The Big Blow-Up", getting dressed up in our best bib and tucker for Senior pictures, working on annual and school paper, going to dances and any other form of fun and amusement.

No, these days spent in M. T. H. S. will never be forgotten by any of the graduating class of '51.

A few links in our chain of friendship during our four years have broken away. These students are, Floyd McCabe, Alvin Grieff, Dale Prindiville, Mary Ellen Gittings, Emma Hintze, Clyde Glenn, Helen McCormack, Anna Marie Struthers, Betty Babcock, Donald Underhill, and Gene West. But on the other hand we have added two links, Dick White and Rita Coughlin.

CLASS POEM

The end of our school life is passing so fast,
Before we know it, it's all flown past.
So let's sit for a minute and our classmates review,
Their characters, their humors, quite mighty, though few.

First Melva Benson, so quiet, so calm,
For one with the blues, her jokes are a balm.
So agile, so witty, so wide awake,
Describes the person of Margie Blake.

Then, Barbara Carey, always so gay,
Small, but lively, the live-long day.
Rita Coughlin, who is slender and tall,
A born comedian, her laugh is not small.

Now, Virgil Funk, who is a farm boy at heart, if a job's to be done, count on him from the start.
Walter Glenn, an ambitious, outstanding boy,
His role in athletics makes him the school's joy.

Arden Hill, good-natured and loud,
Wherever he goes, he collects a crowd.
She's tall, she's pretty and always dependable,
Roberta Hopkins is by no means, expendable.

Howard Hyslop, old boy, you're next in the line,
With your quiet ambition, we think you're just fine.
Now for a boy who is really a peach,
Good-natured, quick-witted, that's Donald Leach.

Louise Long, a studious and jovial girl,
To all her classmates she's really a pearl.
So shy, so humble, a fine little worker,
Jerry McCarthy is positively no shirker.

For her brain and her charm, Myrtle Myers we all treasure,
Her athletic skill runs beyond any measure.
Katherine Olson, kind-mannered, her voice and her smile
Will live in our hearts, for quite a long while.

LeRoy Ryan has intelligence many do crave,
And when a job comes in view, he is its slave.
Easy going, athletic, Stan Schoen's very good
Whatever his goal, reach beyond it he could.

Petite Myrtle Stitt, with a trunkful of brains,
When task is begun, it's perfection she gains.
Dick White with his comical, laughing way,
In later life, may have "the devil to pay."

She has the brains, she's really a honey,
Little Margy Viner is a girl for our money.
Eleanor's personality matches her hair,
Both gleam sunny and lasting far from care.

Now to her companion piece, whose name is Jack Wray,
He always has a smile or something funny to say.
In American History, Walt Zingre's a whiz.
He really shines when given a quiz.

Now you've met the class of '51,
Who always finish what they've begun.
In later life we can look back and see,
How truly wonderful friendship can be.

We've had our troubles; we've had our fun;
We've worked as a team, together as one.
In a very short time, we'll pass through the door,
The roads we travel, to cross no more.

CLASS WILL

We, the senior class of 1951, being of sound mind and senile body, do hereby declare our Last Will and Testament, thereby nullifying all previous wills.

To the juniors we leave all the trials and tribulations we encountered in our senior year.

To the sophomores we leave Mr. Kinman's tests.

The freshmen we gladly leave.

We also leave the following items:

Rita Coughlin - her daily trip uptown to Dorothy Darling.

Barbara Carey - her seat in study hall (which she's never in) to Janet Bounds.

Roberta Hopkins - her poetry to Ellen Davies.

Margie Blake - her athletic ability to Marion Troxel.

Arden Hill - his cautious driving to Dale Helling.

Margy Viner - her sense of humor to Evelyn Baker and Ronald Benson.

Myrtle Stitt - her scholastic ability to Ellen Bell.

Louise Long - her ambition to Mary Briner.

Virgil Funk - his seat on the bus to Gene Anderson and Juanita Jenkins.

Melva Benson - her love for school to Jewell Wolfe.

Myrtle Myers - her bookkeeping skill to Geneva Long.

Katherine Olson - her anxiety for 3:37 to roll around to Pat Strum.

Eleanoar Wray - her ability to get along with Mr. Feinne to Janet Bounds and Virginia Leach.

Jack Wray - his ability to call signals to Mat Holmes.

Walter Zingre - his wide awakeness to Pat Close.

Stan Schoen - his interest in English to Lois Elam and John Snyder.

Walter Glenn - his dramatic ability to Warren Wilkinson.

LeRoy Ryan - his hair oil to Dick Sette.

Howard Hyslop - his mechanical drawing ability to Jeanette Spandet.

Dick White - his nonchalance to Mary Ellen Lee.

Donald Leach - his report card to Pat Gilbert.

Jerry McCarthy - her saying, "Isn't that funny?" to Irene Greiff.

In witness to the above we bus drivers hereunto set our hand and affix our seal.

CLASS PROPHECY

This evening, I am broadcasting over WRAY on a hundred and eighty motorcycles, here in the luxurious surroundings in the fabulous Hotel Waldorf Astoria. It is the twentieth reunion of the 1951 Senior Class. The year is 1971, and I am here to receive the guests as they arrive.

Our first guest to arrive is Marge Viner. This name is now familiar to all, as the signature has appeared on the one dollar bills. We always knew that Marge would go places in offices.

The next to arrive is that new vaudeville sensation, Marge Blake. She is famous for putting T.V. on its feet by staying off hers. The hat girl bats her eyes and smiles as she sees that new paramount star, Walter Glenn, who is now starring in "Gone With The Toe."

Suddenly I find myself staring into a bright belt buckle. As I look up the towering form, I see the smiling face of Stan Schoen who has set the world down long enough to come to our reunion.

And now I see two of our classmates -- LeRoy Ryan, a famed narrator and news broadcaster, discussing the new "poison politics" affair with our globe trotting reporter, Barbara Carey.

Entering now, in a long silver gown and with long glamorous hair, and boasting a good, long standing social record is Louise Long.

Walking in now in full opera dress with her glasses on a stick and humming Chopin's "When My Big Daddy Comes Home," is that wonderful personality, Eleanora Wray.

I hear the gentlemen sigh as they see entering that world renowned leader of the "Feminine Fiddle Flappers" orchestra, Roberta Hopkins.

Our new dancing star, Melva Benson, promenades in to the tune of "Beat Me Daddy Right to the Bar." Who is that? Why! It's that popular T.V. dramatist, Katherine Olsen.

I see now that successful engineer, Dick White, who has just completed laying a plank across the Johnny Run.

We are honored by that new gracious song and dance team, Rita Coughlin and Walter Zingre. I see we are honored by that renowned mechanical engineer, Howard Hyslop.

Next to the punch bowl stands a hugh pair of western boots covered by a ten gallon hat. Somewhere beneath the hat and in the boots is Virgil Funk, that western sheep raiser.

That brown eyed little girl running here and there with pad and pencil is Jerry McCarthy, the only secretary that can take a letter, seal it, address it, and run down thirty-five flights of stairs and mail it before her boss gets through saying "Sincerely yours."

I see that the Dean of Women at Barely Normal College, Myrtle Stitt, is here with us tonight.

Myrtle Myers, the first woman pilot to fly down State Street in a C-47 without running through a red light, is here.

I see now that the gathering is complete as in walks Arden Hill, last but by no means least, as he has accomplished what millions have tried -- complete and uninterrupted relaxation twenty-four hours a day.

One of our students has become a success as an efficiency expert. You all know I'm talking of Donald Leach who has a fine job that pays $ 500 a month with a six month vacation twice a year. If this isn't efficiency, I don't know what is.

Well, the guests are milling around, laughing and talking of old times. Our time is up so I'll have to turn you over to the restful music of Jack's Junky Jute Box put on by Plunkets Pink Pills for pale or purple people.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Three years ago 33 seared Freshmen entered Mazon High School. Several weeks later we were formally initiated. During the year we participated in the Freshmen and Sophomore play, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." At the end of the year we had lost Harvey Jenkins, Stella Sanchez, Warren Grief, and Donald Sennott.

In our Sophomore year we had two new pupils in our class, Viola Halterman and Mary Ann Galanis. We worked that year on the return party and in the cloak room at the prom. At the end of the year we had lost several pupils. They were Viola Halterman, Mary Ann Galanis, Jeanne Nelson, Ted Hebner, Beverly West, Jim Hammen, Dorothy Warwick, Tarry Kingman, and Ralph Gebhardt.

At the beginning of our third year as Juniors we had three new pupils, Matt Holmes, John Snyder, and Pat Gilbert. We look forward to the Junior Play and Reception.

When the present Sophomores started school August 29, 1949, there were twenty-seven trembling Freshmen.

We settled down and thought we were well under way, but on October 6, one of the upper classmen stepped into the room and gave us a list of proceedings for the following day. This was "D" day! The Freshmen came dressed up looking very different. This ordeal proved to our fellow schoolmates that we were good sports and high spirited Freshmen.

On the 27th of October the underclassmen gave a return party for the Juniors and Seniors. The Sophomores entertained while the Freshmen were in charge of food.

When school again took up at M. T. H. S. in 1950, there were twenty-eight pupils in the class of '53. The fluctuation in enrollment was due to the moving of Miriam Holmes and Jim Waller into our community and also the untimely death of Dick Male, a leader in the class.

November 8, found almost everyone from the school at Muffler's Roller Rink. What's the occasion? A sophomore skating party, inviting anyone and everyone.

September of 1950 found the graduating class of 1954 entering Mazon Township High School. The Freshmen looked forward with dread to September which was the Freshman Frolic Party. We were all good sports and came dressed as the upper classmates had requested us to do. Dale DeGrush was judged as the best dressed girl and Joyce Coughlin as the best dressed boy. As we look back on it now, it seems very amusing.

This class then showed their appreciation by a Return Party on November 21 which made a huge success with the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors as guests.

In the magazine campaign, we came out as the winning class with $163.57 added to our treasury. The leading sales people in the Freshman class were Fred Dix and Evelyn Gantzert.

In the next three years of our high school education, we are going to show the Freshmen who register in Mazon High School next year the same cordial hospitality all during the year that we have received.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Our Executive Council this year consists of the officers of the four classes and their advisers. Mr. Alcorn acts as the adviser of the entire Council.

The work of the Council is based on ideas that will improve our school. Problems are brought before the Council, discussed, and adapted to the different conditions that have caused them.

The members assist the Faculty in building up a reasonable amount of student participation in our activities. This way we are able to promote a better understanding and a better relationship between the student body and faculty.

GREAT CAESAR'S GHOST

This play, given by Juniors in the spring of 1950, was centered around a ghost who was to have been the ghost of Caesar, an Inca Chief of South America. One didn't know where the ghost would turn up next and commence pestering people. The audience was on the edge of their seats throughout the play and classified it on the list of being successful.

THE BIG BLOW-UP

Which suitcase contained a bomb? That was the question that aroused the audience's curiosity November 17. The plot centered around four suitcases which became mixed up. Another incident that brought about the plot was the fact that a gangster, Mugsy Morris, was lodging at the hotel and had disguised himself as an old lady. All turned out well with the gangster being caught and the bomb being disposed of.

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association this year has been participating in a variety of activities toward the earning of points for their state and school association awards. They started off by going bowling at Morris. Transportation was provided by the girls in the organization who have a driver's license and by the parents.

Another quite popular activity was our volley ball intramurals. It seemed even after eight weeks of this activity the girls were still willing to challenge and play during free hours. Our other extra activities were badminton, table tennis, basketball, and softball. The girls seemed very interested in these sports and were always willing to participate with much vigor.

The organization accepted the invitation of the Ottawa High School G. A. A. to attend a Play Day last fall and enjoyed a day of sports, fun, and fellowship with girls of their own age and similar interest in sports.

The Yuletide Season was celebrated by a combined party with the F. H. A. We sang familiar carols, had a gift exchange, and enjoyed delicious refreshments.

The girls did a splendid job of initiating underclassmen at a combined Mother-Daughter affair.

F. F. A.

At the present time, the chapter of the Future Farmers of America has thirty-six members. In the fall, thirteen freshmen were initiated as greenhands, and thirteen sophomores were raised to chapter farmers.

The annual Fall Festival was held on November 3 announcing the end of the football season. The Festival was a huge success. Miriam Holmes was selected as Chapter Sweetheart and was presented with a corsage and a Sweetheart jacket.

Other activities of the chapter included field trips, a trip to the International Livestock Show, the purchase of a certain chain gilt, and a hayride and weiner roast given by the F. F. A. for the F. H. A. girls. Sheep dipping and the building of hog houses and other equipment were also some of the activities of the F. F. A.

The parent-son banquet was held in the spring with its usual large attendance, and was enjoyed by all attending.

F. H. A.

This year the "Mazon Chapter of Future Homemakers of America" began its fifth year of organization at Mazon Township High School with forty-four members. Miss Lola Marie Benwitz is our new Home Economics and F. H. A. adviser, and Mrs. Neuman Brewe was elected the Chapter Mother. The standing committee chairmans for this year are: Program--Irene Grieff, Finance--Mary Briner, Social--Sue Jacques, and Publicity Book--Jeanette Spandet.

Soon after school began a Slumber Party was held in the gym. The girls played volleyball, danced many of the modern dances, had refreshments, and then played more games. The next morning, their breakfast was served to them in the Home Ec room. Of course, all the girls had their full eight hours of sleep that night!

Around the first of February, a tea was held in the Home Ec room after school. All of the mothers were invited as well as the Chapter Mother and teachers. Small sandwiches, candy, nuts, and cookies were served.

In January many of the girls began work on their degrees. Barbara Carey is our degree chairman.

In the spring, Formal Initiation was held. The new officers for the coming year were installed. The girls who earned degrees received them at this time and many of the new members were present.

The closing of our year in F. H. A. was the Eighth Grade Party. All eighth grade girls were invited as prospective members for next year. The party began after school and many different games were played. After finishing the games, we all went to the Home Ec room for our supper which climaxed our year.
